The International Auster Club News is published quarterly in the United Kingdom by the International Auster Club. Its purpose is to provide a link between the Club's international membership and to encourage support for Auster aircraft (including Taylorcraft and Beagle).

Please note that the views and opinions expressed in the International Auster Club News magazine are those of the contributors only and not the International Auster Club. Any technical or flying information should be checked with an appropriate authority. IAC members and others considering attending social events and fly-ins reported herein should carefully consider the location of the event and the prevailing local conditions, the performance of their aircraft and their personal flying experience and currency. The surface and surrounds of private airstrips will not be maintained to the same standard as a licensed airfield and certain airstrips are only safe for use by experienced STOL pilots flying aircraft with good STOL performance. Pilots are reminded that under the UK Air Navigation Order and the regulations (as amended), the responsibility for ensuring that a flight can be safely completed lies solely with the pilot in command.
